An International Conference at Malmö University, Sweden 23rd – 24th April 2001

The new University of Malmö was inaugurated in August 1998 and the University Library and Resource Centre is organised together with the IT-unit. A new building for the Teaching Department and a Learning Resource Centre (LRC) is planned for the year 2004.

The LRC will be designed to reflect the visions and goals of Malmö University and constitute an integral part of the academic establishment. A main goal for the new University is to provide surroundings that promote information literacy. The LRC is consistently and consciously designed and planned for developing students' information skills.

In order to throw light upon different aspects of information literacy, Malmö University arranges the second international conference in a series with presentations and workshops led by distinguished experts.

Preliminary programme:

Speakers: Christine Bruce, Queensland University of Technology, Australia; Mats Hansson, Royal Swedish University of Technology, KTH, Sweden; Peter Gärdenfors, Lund University, Sweden; and speakers from Leeds Metropolitan University, UK and Malmö University, Sweden.
